Tax planning between now and the end of the year should be an important focus for businesses, Bacchioni said.

“While every year tax planning is certainly an important step to take, it is even more critical this year due to the many changes implemented to the tax code as a result of tax reform,” he noted. “Be certain that you fully understand the impact of tax reform on your business.”

“There is still time between now and the end of the year to identify potential opportunities and take actions that will put your business in its best position,” he explained.

Bacchioni has conducted training seminars for CPAs on various accounting and auditing topics throughout his career and has been a contributor to trade and business publications.

He holds the Chartered Global Management Accountant (CGMA) designation, which distinguishes professionals who have advanced proficiency in finance, operations, strategy, and management.

Bacchioni is a member of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants (NYSSCPA), the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and is also a member of the NYSSCPA Employee Benefits Committee.

Christopher R. Bacchioni, CPA, P.C. is an accounting firm offering a full range of services including tax planning and preparation, consulting, audits, reviews and compilations, audits of employee benefit plans, not-for-profit services, and trust and estate services.
